He didn't care how many men the filthy Mexican whore needed to screw in her light bulb, damn her. #HemingwayJokes
The chicken crossed the road, fatigued yet resolute, leaving tiny claw marks in the dust and as his head bobbed apiece #HemingwayJokes

"I've read that. The sun also rises," he smirked. "In my PANTS!" She sighed. The die was cast. She was moving back to Europe. #HemingwayJokes

"..cough drop stopped the coffin!" he finished triumphantly. "I love beer," she thought. "And I have one. To hell with men." #HemingwayJokes

He said, your mother hangs a Pork Chop around her neck to get the dog to play with her. Oh wait...not Hemingway #HemingwayJokes

No matter how much she drank, she couldn't block it. His song. The jukebox stuck on replay. Truly, the song that never ends. #HemingwayJokes

An Irishman, a Frenchman, and a German walked into a bar. They thought the Great War was over. They were wrong. #HemingwayJokes
"One day," she began, "Ole told Lena" -- "We don't know any damned Scandinavians," he told her. "Get to the point." #HemingwayJokes

He looked at his toes. Mumbled,"Last night I found a peanut." "Why do you never tell me anything of consequence?" she cried. #HemingwayJokes

Mojito? #HemingwayJokes

"Knock, knock." Again, the door. "Whose' there?" No answer. He put down his mojito. Began the lonely trek across the carpet. #HemingwayJokes

"How is a blueberry like a chicken?" demanded the wiseacre. He shrugged. The fowl's indigo hue would be unnoticed en croute. #HemingwayJokes

Lost. Alone. The darkness was a prison. The lightbulb in my hand was useless. I had no one to help me change it. #HemingwayJokes
There is no halfway. The glass is empty...shattered in thousands of fragments on the highway...alone...in the rain.

The approaching planes droned. "Forgive me," he said to the whore, and sipped his brandy. The earth moved as the bomb fell. #HemingwayJokes

The dog had lost its nose saving my life. I could never bring myself to wash him. He was my only friend. #HemingwayJokes

The label said 'boomerang'. I bought it, knowing otherwise. When thrown it did not come back. Like so many things. #HemingwayJokes

She skimmed the thread of #HemingwayJokes. A slight smile twitched her reluctant upper lip. She turned back to her gin and tonic.
